Tour Highlights:

- Bike Tour

Tour Itinerary

La Digue Island is the focus of traditional slow paced creole-living way of life, first inhabited in 1798. With a map in hand start your cycling adventure by rummaging through the narrow roads that wind their way around the island. The plateau area has a combination of residential dwellings and guest houses with few hotels. The 'Veuve Reserve' is a sanctuary named after the endemic birds which inhabit the area. Located on La Digue, the Veuve Special Reserve forms part of a 200 hectare plateau, on the Western side of the island, and it covers 21 hectares. The Veuve Special Reserve is a special reserve for the protection of wildlife habitats and plant species. It is committed to provide a breeding and feeding habitat for the rare endemic bird species, the Seychelles Black Paradise Flycatcher (Tersiphone Corvina) population on La Digue. The reserve is opened to both local and international visitors, and holds a display, providing general information on both the flycatchers and the Seychelles environment. Books, leaflets and souvenirs are also provided. The Reserve is opened from Monday to Friday from 8.00 am - 4.00 pm.

A visit to the timeless L'Union Estate is an absolute must, where the old agricultural processing method is preserved, such as the traditional copra mill, built to extract virgin coconut oil following the laborious de-husking of the coconut and extraction of the flesh from the shell. A quick stop by the Art gallery in the basement of the iconic Grann KAZ, a historical 19th century French Colonial Plantation House where the famous movie from 1977, 'Goodbye Emmanuel' was filmed.

The wild east coast of La Digue is home to the biggest beach on this Seychelles island - Grand Anse Beach - a spectacular stretch of silver sand, The beach is on the opposite side of the port, 20 mins ride, and you get to heaven. Wide beach, torques colors, small bamboo cabins where you can sit and have. Meet the giant tortoise before passing through the vanilla plantation on your way to Anse Source D'Argent. If you haven't done so yet, it's time to pull out your camera for some incredible pictures of Anse Source D'Argent reputed for its picturesque boulders molding into crystal clear waters and powder like sandy beach.

Tour Highlights:

- Marine life

Tour Itinerary

Dive sites vary in depth from 8 to 30 metres and provide conditions for divers of all abilities. Morning dives are generally deeper dives, while afternoon dives tend to be shallower. The inshore dives provide sheltered conditions on both granitic and coral reefs; while the coral structures were affected by the 1998 bleaching event the fish and marine life have recovered well and are abundant.

The offshore or long-range dive sites of the inner islands offer some of the very best diving in Seychelles and are suitable for more experienced divers as these sites tend to be deep

The custom built high speed catamarans load directly from the beach front outside the dive centers and take guests quickly and comfortably to the dive sites of their choice. All dives are boat dives with a seven day a week service and at least two dives per day. A full range of equipment rental is available in the “Sherwood” line of diving equipment including 3mm Shorty wet-suits and a range of masks and fins to suit most shapes and sizes!

Tour Itinerary

Opened in 2013, Fond Ferdinand a captivating Nature Reserve is not yet very widely- known which is a great plus for this forest is not often frequented. The starting point of this moderate uphill climb is right across the road by Anse Marie Louise beach. Your personal guided tour begins once you reach the reserve's information center. It is highly recommendable to start in the morning at their last tour is around 1300hrs given that the reserve covers a massive area of about 122 hectares filled with an array endemic plants and with the spotting of the Seychelles chameleon and of course chirpy birds to compliment the whole scenery. The unique the Coco de Mer palm grows naturally here, scattered over the land.

The continuous climb and winding trail through the valley carries for about 2 – 3 hours of fun exploration (depending on your ability). The height of the journey is the magnificent view overlooking in one direction Curieuse Island, Sister Island, Coco Island and La Digue, while in the other direction an equally- breathtaking panoramic view from Zimbabwe point. Sunsets are especially stunning from this point, centering one's thought to the elements combined to create such a soul pleasing grounded state.

Tour Highlights:

- Coco De Mer Tress
- Nature Reserve Walk
- Breathtaking view of 6 inner island

Tour Itinerary

The "Heart of Praslin" is home to remnants of the original palm jungles of the Seychelles and has often been described as a "Garden of Eden" thanks to its secluded and mystical nature. It's possible to follow the traces of prehistory in this pristine jungle area, unchanged for millions of years, and find all six of the endemic palm species that can be found here. The Coco de Mer, the largest seed in the world, is particularly admired by visitors, and is the reason for the National Park's world heritage site status, which was recognised in 1983 thanks to the Vallée de Mai's 'excellent exemplification of a characteristic Seychelles palm forest'.

The Vallée de Mai is also home to the rare Black Parrot, of which there are three species in the Seychelles and one more sub-species in Madagascar. The birds are very shy and usually can only be heard. If you wish to take pictures and don't have a high-quality camera, you should use flash to capture your image. At the top of the Glacis Noire it becomes light again, and you can enjoy a stunning 360° view from here. A small café at the park entrance invites you to take a breather, and, of course, there are souvenir shops too. Transfer to Anse Lazio, one of the most beautiful beach in the world.
