This former palace, inaugurated in 1922 to celebrate 100 years of Brazilian independence, features unique architecture within São Paulo State. Notable elements include a 120-foot clock tower and four statues representing Industry, Commerce, Production, and Navigation. The museum is adorned with wall paintings that recount Santos' history from its early days to the present. Housed within a 19th-century Colonial building, the Pelé Museum showcases an extensive collection of memorabilia, awards, trophies, and other items from the personal collection of "The Athlete of the 20th Century." In the museum's 4,134 square meters, visitors can also enjoy audio presentations, films, and photos that narrate the history of "The King." It's an unforgettable experience!

Following this, your journey takes you to the neighboring ocean-side district of Praia Grande. In December 2014, Neymar inaugurated the "Instituto Projeto Neymar Jr." in the very same neighborhood where he spent much of his youth, Praia Grande, São Paulo.

In collaboration with FC Barcelona's Foundation, INJR is a private non-profit organization dedicated to assisting children and their families in need of support within the neighborhood. It features a modern educational and sports complex in Praia Grande. Neymar's commitment to social responsibility was evident during the institute's launch event.

"Today was a great day. It was the day I wanted to come, and I am very happy; my whole family is very happy," said Neymar. He added, "I lived two blocks from here, and I know what my childhood was like. I knew we didn't have opportunities. So, this institute is a significant opportunity for us to provide opportunities to the people here."

Inspired by the need to inform parents and help them teach their kids that they can achieve their dreams with determination and hard work, Neymar believes that any dream can come true.

The institute was funded with approximately $9.2 million, and the land on which the complex was built was leased from the city in a 30-year deal, renewable for another 30 years upon expiry. The institute's primary purpose is not to serve as a platform for scouting talent to discover another Neymar.

The 2,300 children who are involved must undergo a two-step vetting process to access the facilities within INJR. The institute exclusively admits children from low-income families residing in the eight impoverished suburbs of Praia Grande. Secondly, it is a requirement for children to regularly attend school and have an attendance rate of at least 90%, emphasizing the importance of education.

Brands like Nike, Volkswagen, and Redbull have joined forces with Neymar for various reasons to participate in this noble cause. For instance, Nike recently organized a free clinic for a group of children from the Institute. During this event, the kids had the opportunity to see and test the new boot designed by Brazilian artist Bruno Big, which is used by Neymar Jr. An on-site presentation is provided, and you can expect an exciting Flash Surprise Performance! Visiting this project is undoubtedly a life-changing experience.

From Praia Grande, your journey proceeds to the Stepphills of Porchat Island located in São Vicente, the first village founded in Brazil back in 1532 by Portuguese settlers. We will make a brief stop at the beach for pictures. Returning to your coach, we will drive along the "Beach Gardens" or Gonzaga Beach, which is recognized by the Guinness Book as the largest beach garden in the world, spanning 218,800 m² and bordered by hotels and condominiums.
